SUMMARY

---

Web architect for 5 years and indie game developer with 5+ years of experience. I have shipped game jam titles, published postmortems, and I bring full-stack engineering, game design, and business strategy to every project. I am seeking a new and challenging role where craft and systems thinking intersect.

EXPERIENCE

Freelance Web Developer & Marketer

Self-Employed

December 2021 - Present

- Consulted with multiple indie TTRPG developers and small teams for web or marketing projects.
- Implemented Google Analytics and set up multiple reports for campaigns and general information gathering.
- Assisted with writing documentation on new technology the teams added, whether I helped set it up or in general cases.

Game Developer & Entrepreneur

Twisted Crystal Games

November 2020 - Present, Hymera, IN

- Designed and released original tabletop RPGs and journaling games, spanning game jams and independently motivated projects.
- Published development postmortems on projects on my Ko-Fi, with a monthly summary dev journal, focusing on my growth as a developer.
- Founded and organized Street Grimoire Jam annually on itch.io, a community game jam focused on modern-day fantasy game design.

Instructor

Indiana State University

August 2023 - March 2026

- Taught CS topics to Undergraduates and Graduates, including Basic Web Programming, Backend Web Development, and Linux Administration.
- Lectures were recorded and uploaded as private YouTube videos for those who missed them or needed to watch them to take better notes.
- All coursework was put online and made as accessible as possible using the tools provided by the university.

Web Architect

Indiana State University

October 2021 - March 2026

- Maintained a 1,000+ page web presence as the primary in-house developer on a lean team, serving as the central communication link across campus partners, governance, and external stakeholders.
- Led the GA4 migration project within a single year. I wrote the plan and followed it, including others when necessary.

- Write the documentation on various technical devices, including technology that we newly added or that I developed myself for our Drupal instance.
